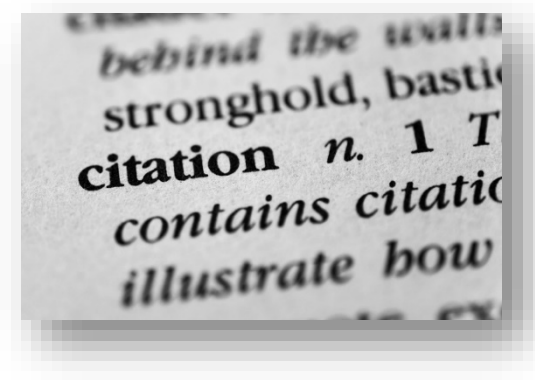
"The only journey is the one within."
-Maria Rainer Rilke

ACADEMIC WRITING: Citing and Referencing

Developed and compiled by
Michael Warrick

DEFINITIONS



1. Can you guess the terms corresponding to these definitions?

a) …… i) to repeat the exact words that another person has said or written because it is interesting or useful.

b) …… ii) to copy another person's ideas, words or work and pretend that they are your own.

c) …… iii) to express what someone else has said or written, using different words.

d) …….. iv) to write a note in your essay that informs the reader where a particular piece of information comes from.

e) ……. v) to express the most important facts or ideas about something or someone in a short and clear form.

THE FORMAT OF A CITATION

1. If you wish to cite an author you should do the following: give the surname, followed by the date of publication of the book or article, and the page number(s). A reporting verb may also be used after the citation. What are the differences between a quotation and a paraphrase?

Paraphrase

Author

Year of publication

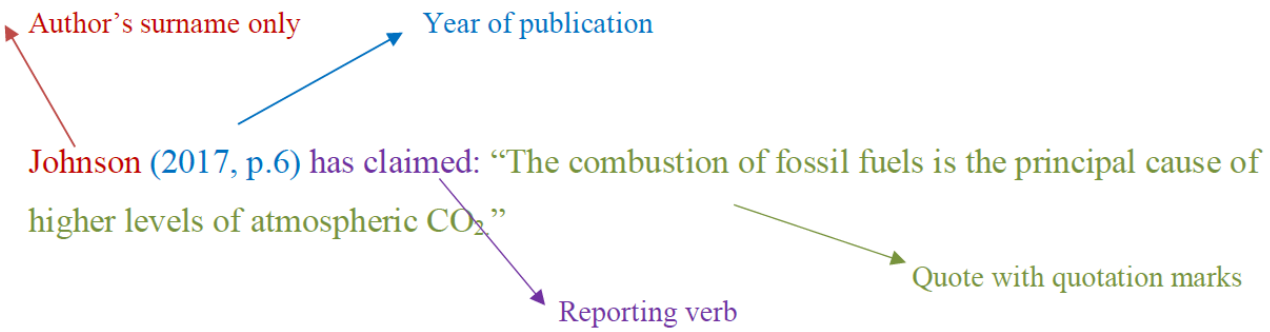
Johnson (2017, p.6) has claimed that increased concentrations of CO2 in the atmosphere are due primarily to the burning of fossil fuels.

Paraphrase

Reporting verb

©Michael Warrick 2025

Quotation



2. What is the common link between a quotation, summary and paraphrase?

WHY SHOULD YOU GIVE CITATIONS AND REFERENCES?

1. Why do you need to give citations and references?

a) ……..

b) ……

c) …….

d) ……..

e) …….

2. Go to this link below and watch the video: Why Should I use References in my Writing,'; add further reasons:

https://www-citethemrightonline-com.ezproxy.lancs.ac.uk/video?docid=CTR_6301824067001&tocid=CTR_file_6301824067001

Notes:

Source: Bloomsbury Digital Resources (2023) Why should I use references in my writing? Available at: https://www-citethemrightonline-com.ezproxy.lancs.ac.uk/video?docid=CTR_6301824067001&tocid=CTR_file_6301824067001 (Accessed: 17 May 2024).

©Michael Warrick 2025

3. Decide which of the following require citations:

Types of information:

- i. You mention a famous theory without giving any particular context.
- ii. You offer an unfamiliar proverb.
- iii. You offer your own definition, explanation or interpretation of another author's idea/claim which you have reported.
- iv. You introduce an interesting idea of your own.
- v. You mention figures (e.g. percentages) from a source.
- vi. You indicate an important idea that is common knowledge.
- vii. You quote from an author/researcher.
- viii. You interpret the results of an experiment given in a report.

4. Click on the link below to discover more about common knowledge:

- https://www.citethemrighttutorial.com/course-modules/harvard/common-knowledge-anecdotal-and-confidential-information/what-common

* If this link does not work, you can access the webpage from the link in question two. You should click on the link → Tutorial → Launch Tutorial → Harvard (Select referencing style) → menu → Common Knowledge, Anecdotal and Confidential → What is Common Knowledge.

- Scroll down to answer all the questions and continue until you reach the Review page

©Michael Warrick 2025

DO THESE SENTENCES REQUIRE CITATIONS?

1. Complete this activity now and review later in the class. Which of the following sentences would require a citation, in your opinion? Check with your partner. How many of them do you disagree on?

a) In 2012, the US had by far the highest number of road fatalities of any country, at 41,967.

b) The Wright Brothers made the first ever successful flight on 17 December 1903.

c) The heritability of happiness had been found to be approximately 50%.

d) A bad workman always blames his tools.

e) Maslow's theory of personality is concerned with needs of normal and creative people.

f) Empirical research suggests that individuals with higher self-efficacy tend to be more motivated and successful on a given task.

g) Cumulonimbus clouds are heavy and dense with considerable vertical development sometimes reaching the tropopause.

h) Maslow's states: "humans are full of numerous demands, and some of them are more important than others, but ultimately we are capable of fully reaching our potential."

©Michael Warrick 2025

GUIDELINES FOR WRITING CITATIONS (LANCASTER HARVARD REFERENCING GUIDE)

Consult the Harvard (Lancaster University Library) Referencing Guide (shorter version) to help you review and complete the following guidelines. You may wish to view and/or to download Cite Them Right (13th edition) from these links:

View: https://www-citethemrightonline-com.ezproxy.lancs.ac.uk/category-list?docid=CTRHarvard

Download or view:
https://ebookcentral.proquest.com/lib/lancaster/detail.action?docID=6992940#

- Complete the following sections (1-4) one by one by answering the questions and filling in the gaps.
   Before commencing, you should peruse pages 3-8 of the Harvard (Lancaster University Library) Referencing Guide.*

SECTION ONE:

1. Direct citation: The surname occurs naturally in the text, and the year of publication is given in brackets after the author's surname:

   - Price (2022) points out that reviewing notes after class is one of the most effective ways to consolidate learning.
   - According to Price (2022) review is one of the most effective ways to consolidate learning

2. Indirect citation: Rather than being mentioned directly in the sentence, the author and year of publication are given at the end of the sentence:

   - Reviewing notes after class was found to be one of the most effective ways to consolidate learning (Price, 2023).

Question A: Why do we sometimes put the citation at the end of the sentence? ……

……..…….

©Michael Warrick 2025

3. If an author or company has published more than once in one year, use ……..:

- In an earlier report it was suggested by Haier (2018a) that the careers service should be transferred from… It is significant, however that Haier (2018b), speaking on behalf of its employers, recently argued that…

4. If there are …… or more authors to a source, use the name of the first author followed by et al.:

- Barker et al. (2022) have shown for the first time that baboons have the ability to think in an abstract way.

Question B: What is secondary referencing? Watch this video and take notes: https://www-citethemrightonline-com.ezproxy.lancs.ac.uk/video?docid=CTR_6301824069001&tocid=CTR_file_6301824069001

…

5. When you refer to the work of an author (i.e., the primary source) mentioned by the author whose text you have read (i.e., the secondary source), you should cite both the primary and secondary sources (and for your reference list, you should include only the secondary source). The …… source comes first in the citation:

- Smith (2015 cited in Atkinson et al., 2016, p. 70) has argued that the frequency and intensity of storms will increase as a result of global warming.

©Michael Warrick 2025

SECTION TWO: CITATIONS FOR NO AUTHOR OR DATE

1. If there is no author for a webpage, you should give the name of the organization; if there is no organization, you should cite the title of the webpage.

- "The cerebral cortex plays a key role in memory, attention and perception" (New Scientist, 2015).
- "The cerebral cortex plays a key role in memory, attention and perception" (Brain Power, 2015).

2. If you need to cite a book which appears to have no author, use the ……:

- If any government regulates against use of artificial intelligence, the research will leave the borders of that country and be conducted elsewhere. (Artificial Intelligence: A Modern Approach, 2018).

3. If you cite a magazine or newspaper that has no author, you should give the …… ……..

- According to the Guardian (2016, p. 6), 8% of people are prone to experiencing sleep paralysis.

4. If the year of publication is not known, n.d. is used, standing for ……:

According to Renault (n.d.), sales of hydrogen cars will increase dramatically in the next 10 years.

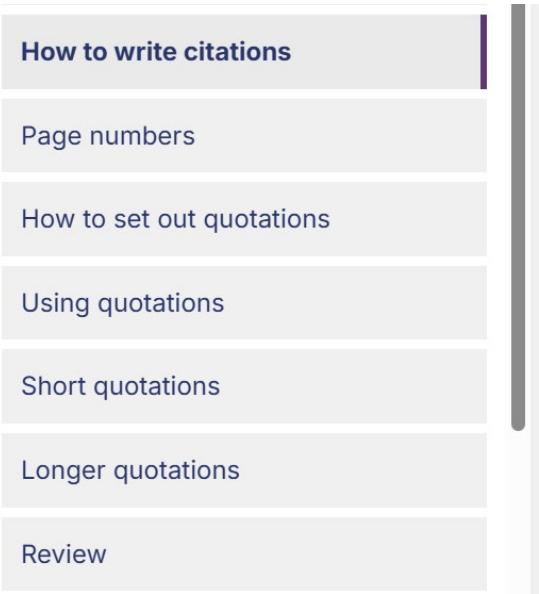
©Michael Warrick 2025

SECTION THREE: PAGE NUMBERS & QUOTATIONS

1. Go to this link below to discover how to cite with page numbers and quotations

   - https://www.citethemrighttutorial.com/course-modules/harvard/how-set-out-citations-and-quotations/how-write-citations

   - Scroll down to answer all the questions and continue until you reach the Review page

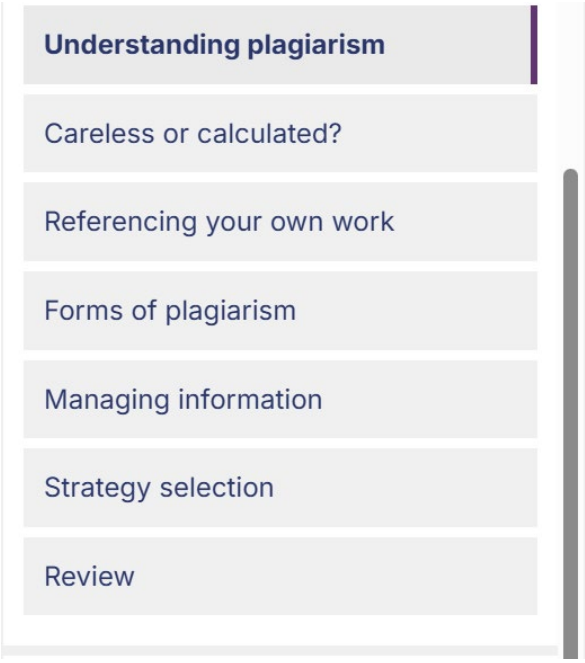


SECTION FOUR: UNDERSTANDING PLAGIARISM

Go to this link below to discover more about plagiarism:

- https://www.citethemrighttutorial.com/course-modules/harvard/understanding-and-avoiding-plagiarism/understanding-plagiarism

- Scroll down to answer all the questions and continue until you reach the Review page



©Michael Warrick 2025

ERROR CORRECTION OF CITATIONS

1. Can you correct the citations in the sentences below? Each sentence contains only one error; two sentences are error-free:

a) The ideas of Confucius have had a significant impact on Chinese society.

b) Recent research by Myers, Anderton and Thornberry (2020) has indicated high levels of pollution in the ice and snow of Antarctica.

c) … It has been shown that:

> "As global climate warms, the world's oceans are expanding in volume, causing a rise in the average level of the sea. Many land glaciers are continuing to melt, adding to this rise in sea level." (Turnpenny, 2018, p. 6)

d) It is often claimed that CSR activities in certain domains have a direct effect on consumers' purchase intentions (Li 2019).

e) According to Davis and Smith (Journal of Business and Finance), there are four strategies which managers need to follow.

f) The National Academy of Sciences, 2009, has shown that the lifetime of CH_4 in the atmosphere is 10–12 years. Nitrous oxide and CFCs have century-long lifetimes before they are destroyed in the stratosphere.

g) Recently there have been protests against wind energy fields due to the fact that the larger windmills spoil natural landscapes (Renewable Energy Sources, 2023).

h) Prieux et al. (2017 cited by Atkinson, 2020, p. 72) have claimed: "global warming is accelerating much faster than predicted by the ILCC in 2006."

i) A number of studies have demonstrated the successful use of mobile technology to enhance and support student learning. (Sharples et al., 2020; Jones and Clough, 2017; Thomson, 2021)

©Michael Warrick 2025

CONTEXTUALISING AND EXPLAINING A QUOTE, PARAPHRASE OR SUMMARY

You should introduce your quote, paraphrase or summary to provide the context or background. You should also use a relevant reporting verb where appropriate.

a) Useful expressions and reporting verbs:

- As the prominent researcher claims, …
- According to X, …
- In her book, X maintains that…
- Writing in the journal, Academica, X asserts that…
- In X's view, …
- This view/outcome/position is confirmed by X, who remarks…
- This view/outcome/position is supported by X, who comments…

More reporting verbs:

observe	suggest	claim	analyze
defend	explain	state	argue
assert	investigate	dispute	comment
contend	review	question	points out justify

CITATIONS

It is important to format the citations correctly, giving the surname ONLY of the author, followed by the year of publication and a page number (if there is one).

EXPLAINING THE QUOTE/PARAPHRASE/SUMMARY

Having introduced and incorporated quote, paraphrase or summary, you should interpret it, give further context and/or offer any implications in order to show the reader how the quote strengthens your ideas. You should not assume that the reader will understand its significance merely by reading it. Quotes that do not have an explanation are called dangling quotes.

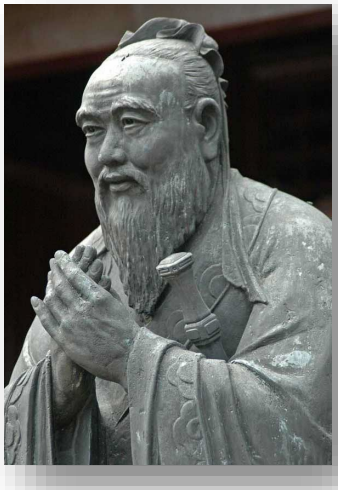
Useful Language for interpreting/explaining (etc) a quote, paraphrase or summary

This remark/claim suggests that…
In other words, X believes that…
In making this comment/statement X means/implies that…
X's main point is that…
The essence of X's argument is that…
This claim would imply that…
Through this statement it is clear/evident that...
It may be assumed that…

©Michael Warrick 2025

ACADEMIC WRITING EXERCISE: REORDERING AND FUNCTION MATCHING

Below are sentences from a paragraph about Chinese parenting and cultural values. They have been jumbled. Your tasks are to:



1. Reorder the sentences to form a coherent academic paragraph.
2. Match each sentence to its academic function using the list provided.

List of Academic Functions (Use each function only once)

i) Elaboration / Definition

ii) Evidence

iii) Interpretation / Cultural Implication

iv) Main Claim / Position Statement

v) Topic Sentence

vi) Transitional Sentence (introducing evidence)

vii) Wider Cross-Cultural Comparison

Correct order #	Academic Function
1. =	(v)
2. =
3. =
4. =
5. =
6. =
7. =

a) As Chen et al. (2020) note: "Children who are sensitive, wary, and behaviorally restrained are called Guai Hai Zi in Mandarin, which may be translated as meaning obedient or well-behaved child."

b) Chinese parenting practices are often characterized by a protective approach that emphasizes restraint, caution, and interpersonal harmony.

c) Core values embedded in traditional Chinese culture are deeply reflected in parental attitudes and behaviors toward children.

©Michael Warrick 2025

d) Notably, characteristics that might be pathologized in Western contexts - such as shyness or anxiety - are often viewed more positively in Chinese culture, where they may be interpreted as indicators of moral awareness, self-discipline, and social consideration.

e) One way this value system is expressed is through culturally specific labels used to describe children who exemplify these traits.

f) The widespread use of such terminology suggests that these qualities are not merely accepted but actively endorsed within the Chinese cultural framework.

g) These traits are not only encouraged but are culturally valorized as essential to social cohesion.

3. Vocabulary Acquisition

a) Go to this webpage: https://www.oxfordlearnersdictionaries.com/text-checker/.

b) Cut and paste the above text into the Oxford Text Checker.

c) Choose the 'Oxford 5000 Excluding Oxford 3000' and you will see highlighted vocabulary from the CFER B2 and C1 levels

d) Double click on at least four unfamiliar words within these selections and note their definitions in the table below

e) You may find useful synonyms at this webpage: https://www.freethesaurus.com/

WORD	WORD FORM	MEANING + SYNONYMS (IF ANY)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)

©Michael Warrick 2025

Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)

©Michael Warrick 2025

THE REFERENCE LIST

Before reviewing how to write a reference list it is useful to know what a journal is, and how to distinguish a journal from a magazine or newspaper.1. What are the differences between a journal and a magazine? Complete Tables 1 and 2:

Table 1) Journal

Purpose: - to provide information to people in a particular industry or field (e.g. psychology)
References – i) .....
Articles are written by ii) ....
Reader – is assumed to be well-educated or a researcher. Sophisticated language is used
Article appearance - includes graphs, charts, and photographs that support the research - articles are structured into sections, usually: abstract, introduction, literature review, methodology, results and discussion, and conclusion Appearance - plain format, usually black and white; how much advertising can be found? iii)…….....
Frequency - usually appears monthly or every iv) ..... (quarterly).
Peer reviewed – reviewed by other experts in the field to evaluate and provide credibility prior to publishing.

Table 2) Magazine

Purpose: - to inform, entertain and/or persuade References - rarely included
Articles are written by -staff , or free-lance writers
Reader - is assumed to have an average or good level of education; simpler language is used
Article appearance - photographs and illustrations used for aesthetic purposes to attract readers - the articles are usually brief
Appearance - attractive format, lots of colour - extensive advertising aimed at the general public Frequency - weekly or monthly

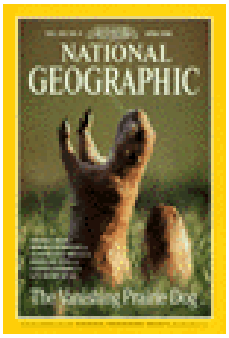
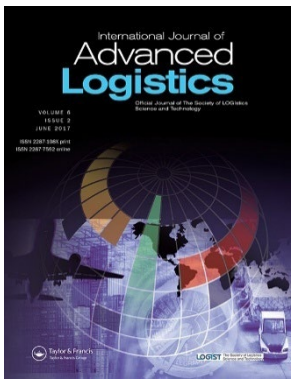
b) Which of these are journals and which are magazines?





©Michael Warrick 2025

VOCABULARY

i) Issue: one of a series of journals, magazines or newspapers; I have borrowed July's issue of The Journal of Asian Studies from the library.

ii) Volume: a book containing a series of issues of a journal.

REFERENCE LISTS

1. Write a short list of references based on the information given below. You may consult the Lancaster Harvard Referencing Guide to help you:

a) This article by Robert Cooper is called: Language Learning; it was published in June 2012 in a journal called TESOL Quarterly. It can be found on pages 303-314 of volume 4, issue 3.

b) This is a book by Peter Bachman and Adrian Palmer written in 1996. The title is: Language Testing in Practice. It was published by Oxford University Press in Oxford.

c) Last week I read an interesting PhD thesis written by a Lancaster University student (Nicholas Pioche) entitled: 'Monet, Claude: First Impressionist Paintings.' It was written in 2019.

d) On Monday, September 12, 2024, I read an article in The Guardian entitled: 'Study reveals striking differences in brains of modern humans and Neanderthals'. The article was written by Hannah Devlin, on September 8, 2022. The URL is: https://www.theguardian.com/science/2022/sep/08/study-reveals-striking-differences-in-brains-of-modern-humans-and-neanderthals

REFERENCES

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

©Michael Warrick 2025

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

2. Consult the Lancaster Harvard Referencing Guide to help you correct the errors in the references below (one error per reference) and put them in the correct order:

REFERENCES

Journal Articles

Brad Pitt. (1999) A true calling. Science Matters, 38(5), 112-119.

Dennis, W. & Dennis, M. G. (1970) The effect of cradling practices upon the onset of walking in Hopi children. Journal of genetic psychology, 152(4), 563-572.

Online Journal Article

Palmer, C. (2019) SpaceX starship lands on Earth, but manned missions to Mars will require more. Engineering*,* 7(10), 1345-347. 10.1016/j.eng.2021.08.005

Books

Morris, D. (n.d) History of business. London: Business Press.

Kirk, J. T. (2020) Beyond artificial intelligence. 3rd edition. Weihai: BJTU-Lancaster University Press.

Ebook

Boden, A. (2016) The nature and future of A.I. (Online). Oxford University Press. Available at: https://ebookcentral.proquest.com/lib/lancaster/detail.action?docID=4545415.

©Michael Warrick 2025

RECORDING NEW VOCABULARY

Use may use this page to record important new vocabulary

WORD	PRONUNCIATION	WORD FORM
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)

©Michael Warrick 2024

Use may use this page to record important new vocabulary

WORD	PRONUNCIATION	WORD FORM
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)
Example sentence(s)

©Michael Warrick 2024