IRP LESSON TASK 4: TASK OVERVIEW

This lesson task will review and assess your understanding of paragraph structure and accurate citing/referencing in academic writing. You will be evaluated on your ability to:

- identify clear topic sentences and logical paragraph sequencing
- select appropriate types of support for a topic sentence
- apply citations correctly and appropriately
- produce accurate references in Lancaster University Harvard style

This is an in-class task. If you are absent, you will not be able to complete or submit the task at another time. Please complete IRP Lesson Task 4 by reading and answering the questions in this booklet. You should then upload this document as a Word document by the end of class.

WI-FI INSTRUCTIONS

The wi-fi for the classroom will be disabled during most of the second hour of Saturday's class. Please also ensure the wi-fi of your tablet or laptop is in flight mode (turned off) from the beginning of the second hour. Mobile phones should be deposited in pockets provided at the back of the classroom.

1. You may use:

- The Harvard (Lancaster University Library) Referencing Guide
- An offline monolingual English dictionary
- An offline collocations dictionary (paper or digital without internet access)

2. You may not use:

- Online sources or Wi-Fi
- AI tools or software (e.g., ChatGPT, Grammarly)
- Your mobile phone

3. Please complete document in Word format.

4. Upload to Moodle before the end of the class today. Before uploading, please rename your file:

Lesson Task 4 - English name (or Pinyin if you prefer) - student number.'

5. * Any work deemed to have been written using AI will be penalized.

SHOWING SUPPORT IN A PARAGRAPH: TYPES OF SUPPORT

1. Put the paragraph sentences (a-g below) into the correct order.

2. Indicate types of support offered in the paragraph by matching each function (i-vii) with one sentence (a-g):

i) Definition - explains a key concept or term

ii) Elaboration - adds further explanation

iii) Example - real-world case

iv) Explanation of evidence - unpacks why the evidence matters

v) Supporting claim and introduction to evidence

vi) Topic sentence - introduces the main idea of the paragraph

vii) Evidence - supports the claim

Correct order #	Academic Function
1. = (d)	(vi)
2. = (g)	(i)
3. = (f)	(v)
4. = (c)	(vii)
5. = (e)	(iv)
6. = (b)	ii)
7. = (a)	(iii)

a) For instance, transporting fresh seafood from coastal cities like Qingdao to inland cities such as Chengdu requires refrigerated trucks that must maintain temperatures below -18°C throughout the journey, significantly increasing operational expenses.

b) High costs are further exacerbated by the extensive distances and varied climates across China, necessitating more energy-intensive refrigeration solutions.

c) Statistics reveal that the operational costs for cold chain logistics can be up to 50% higher than those for standard logistics.

d) The underdevelopment of cold chain logistics (CCL) in China is due primarily to factors related to high transportation costs.

e) This significant difference may be attributed to the continuous need for energy to maintain low temperatures, the specialized handling required, and the higher risk of spoilage, which necessitates more stringent monitoring and control measures.

f) Cost inefficiency has been consistently identified as a primary constraint in the expansion of cold chain logistics infrastructure.

g) Underdevelopment in this context refers to the insufficient growth and advancement of infrastructure and services necessary to support efficient cold chain logistics.

Correct order of sentences

d) TOPIC SENTENCE: The underdevelopment of cold chain logistics (CCL) in China is due primarily to factors related to high transportation costs.

g) DEFINITION: Underdevelopment in this context refers to the insufficient growth and advancement of infrastructure and services necessary to support efficient cold chain logistics.

f) CLAIM AND INTRODUCTION T0 EVIDENCE: Cost inefficiency has been consistently identified as a primary constraint in the expansion of cold chain logistics infrastructure.

c) EVIDENCE: Statistics reveal that the operational costs for cold chain logistics can be up to 50% higher than those for standard logistics.

e) EXPLANATION OF EVIDENCE: This significant difference may be attributed to the continuous need for energy to maintain low temperatures, the specialized handling required, and the higher risk of spoilage, which necessitates more stringent monitoring and control measures.

b) FURTHER ELABORATION (of explanation): High costs are further exacerbated by the extensive distances and varied climates across China, necessitating more energy-intensive refrigeration solutions.

a) EXAMPLE: For instance, transporting fresh seafood from coastal cities like Qingdao to inland cities such as Chengdu requires refrigerated trucks that must maintain temperatures below -18°C throughout the journey, significantly increasing operational expenses.

CITING AND REFERENCING

1. You should indicate where 2 citations might be inserted into above paragraph, based on your knowledge of why citations are needed. You should use the information provided about the authors and articles below. The order of i) and ii) below corresponds to the order for the citations in the paragraph:

Information about sources

i) ONE ARTICLE WAS WRITTEN BY XIAOLI LI AND YANG ZHANG IN 2022. THE TITLE WAS: THE ECONOMIC IMPACTS OF OPERATIONAL COSTS ON COLD CHAIN LOGISTICS IN CHINA, AND IT WAS PUBLISHED IN A JOURNAL ENTITLED: JOURNAL OF LOGISTICS AND TRANSPORTATION RESEARCH. IT CAN BE FOUND ON PAGES 345 TO 367 OF VOLUME 15, ISSUE 4.

ii) ANOTHER ARTICLE WAS WRITTEN BY HAORAN WANG, FENG LIU AND JING ZHAO IN 2023. THE TITLE WAS: CHALLENGES OF COLD CHAIN LOGISTICS FOR PERISHABLE GOODS IN CHINA, AND IT WAS PUBLISHED IN A JOURNAL ENTITLED: INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT. IT CAN BE FOUND ON PAGES 119-135 OF VOLUME 28, ISSUE 2.

Write your responses here Copy and paste the two sentences here and insert one direct and one indirect citation for each one. There is no need to paraphrase - simply add citations (and a reporting verb if needed).

Sentence 1 with citation based on source (i):

Li & Zhang (2022) have shown that the operational costs for cold chain logistics can be up to 50% higher than those for standard logistics.

Sentence 2 with citation based on source (ii):

For instance, transporting fresh seafood from coastal cities like Qingdao to inland cities such as Chengdu requires refrigerated trucks that must maintain temperatures below -18°C throughout the journey, significantly increasing operational expenses (Wang et al., 2023).

2. Optional: Give references below in the correct format (Lancaster University Harvard referencing style):
